Program meets licensure requirements in the following States:

Program meets licensure requirements for accounting classes in most states, but every state has different requirements to sit for the CPA exam. Students may need to satisfy specified requirements in each individual state to sit for exam. Example: Texas requires a specific ethics course that is only offered by Texas universities. Arkansas requires that students take a governmental/NFP accounting course to sit for exam. Students may take either Acct 4032 (Govt/NFP) or Acct 4010 (Advanced) in Louisiana. So, it depends on which path they choose as whether they meet requirement. Additionally, most states require a certain number of business courses in addition to the accounting courses. If a student has a prior business degree, they automatically meet this requirement. If they do not have a prior business background, or never took any business courses, they may also need additional business courses to meet certification requirements.
