

Marriage and Family Therapy Programs

Ph.D. MFT in Creative Systemic Studies

A NONCLINICAL
CONCENTRATION OF THE
MARRIAGE AND FAMILY
THERAPY PROGRAM

Directed by Bradford Keeney, Ph.D., the creative systemic studies doctoral program is uniquely beneficial for clinicians, counselors, coaches, clergy, healers, educators, scholars and artists who are already proficient in a practical discipline and desire deeper study of the contexts that advance the creative practices of the transformative arts.

The program's faculty and associates comprise a renowned group of scholars, practitioners, and artists. Coursework spans across academic disciplines and fields of practice and aims to creatively study the way creativity is the key to awakening systemic processes of transformation.

THEMATIC EMPHASES:

- The creative art of transformation
- Systemic know-how
- Liberal arts orientation that embraces the humanities and performance arts
- Multicultural approaches to health and well-being
- Diverse forms of scholarship

FOR MORE INFORMATION, CONTACT:

ULM College of Education & Human Development
Educational Leadership & Counseling
Marriage and Family Therapy Programs

VISIT: ulm.edu/elc

E-MAIL: mft@ulm.edu

PHONE: 318.342.1246

ULM
UNIVERSITY OF LOUISIANA MONROE