Faculty Development Committee

End-of-Year Report

April 29, 2016

The Faculty Development Committee met in November 2015 to discuss faculty development for University Week Spring 2016 as well as for offerings throughout the spring semester. The committee also discussed the use of digital badges to award for all faculty development activities, and members are enthusiastic about the badge concept.

Members followed up with input from their colleagues about topics for future faculty development. Michelle Zagar offered very valuable input from the Pharmacy faculty about topics, and levels of training.

No spring meeting was held, and the committee members have been asked to submit ideas for topics and presenters for Fall 2016 University Week.

Digital badges were awarded for participation at all sessions this academic year. Approximately 1/3 of the badges were accepted, signifying that those faculty and staff value the digital means of keeping track of their attendance.

Future meetings will be planned as needed.
